36. CAVALLO, Tiberius. A Treatise on the Nature and Properties of Air, and Other Permanently Elastic Fluids. To which is prefixed, an introduction to chymistry. London: Printed for the author, 1781. $375.00

1st edition. 4to. viii, [836], [12] pp. 3 folding plates. Index. Two leaves from the table of contents misbound in the index, but the book is complete. Folding table.

Rebound in modern ¾ calf over marbled boards. Gilt spine. New endpapers. The ink signatures of two former owners appear on opening leaves. Minor foxing. Occasional pencil notations from a former owner. Otherwise a very good, clean copy.

"In this treatise he deals with chemistry and hydrostatics as they bear on the composition and physical properties of aeriform and other fluids. He examines with caution most of Dr. Priestley's experiments on air, and institutes many new ones, to determine more accurately the composition of the atmosphere and the conditions of inflammable and fixed air. Phlogisticated air forms the subject of inquiry, but it is evident that Cavallo could not receive the hypothesis of phlogiston, and yet did not feel himself on such sure ground as would justify his advancing any new doctrine. His investigations into the influences of air and light on the growth of plants are very original, and advanced him very nearly to the discovery of many new truths in connection with organic life." (D.N.B.) Lowndes, p. 395.

37. CHARLOT, Jean. Picture Book. 32 original lithographs. Inscriptions by Paul Claudel. Translated into English by Elise Cavanna. New York: John Becker, [1933]. $1,000.00

42. COPP, Andrew James. Autobiography of Andrew James Copp, Founder of a Family. Los Angeles: 1927. $175.00

Printed by the Sierra Madre Press, Sierra Madre, California. 8vo. 226 pp. Photographic illustrations. Only 15 copies printed.

Wrappers. Occasional light foxing. Otherwise very good. Not in Cowan or Rocq.

An outspoken account of a self-made millionaire written for his sons and grandsons. Copp was born in 1846, was a member of the Yale class of 1869, came to California briefly in 1870 and in 1884 began a series of remarkable real estate transactions in Southern California. He was an attorney, but spent most of his time in the real estate business. In 1898 he offered the Copp Building at 218 South Broadway to the City of Los Angeles, but the offer was refused by the Los Angeles City Council.

43. DALRYMPLE, Sir John. The Address of the People of Great-Britain to the Inhabitants of America. London: Printed for T. Cadell, 1775.

$175.00

8vo. [4], [60] pp. Self-wrapper, stitched together. Remains of previous calf binding on spine. First two leaves lightly foxed. Very good in ¼ blue morocco slipcase.

"Conciliatory plea, written for colonial consumption." (Howes D36).

44. [DANCE]. VUILLERMOZ, Emile. Clotilde et Alexandre Sakharoff. [Lausanne: Editions Centrales, 1933]. $135.00

Limited to 1,000 examples on "papier pur chiffon." 8vo. 78 pp. of text. 26 pp. of illustrations, comprised mostly of tipped in photographic illustrations.

45. [DEFOE, Daniel]. Minutes of the Negotiations of Monsr. Mesnager at the Court of England, Towards the close of the Last Reign. Wherein some of the most Secret Transactions of that Time, relating to the Interest of the Pretender, and a Clandestine separate Peace, are detected and laid open. Written by Himself. Done out of French. London: Printed for S. Baker, at the Black Boy and Anchor in Pater-Noster Row, 1717.

$550.00

1st edition. 8vo. 326 pp. Title within rules, ornamental woodcut headpiece and initial letter.

Contemporary paneled calf. Red leather spine label. Small gouge in back cover. Lightly foxed throughout. Bookplate. Overall very good.

This book was written during the proceedings against the Earl of Oxford and was yet another of Defoe's loyal services to his former patron. Defoe's earlier dealings with Mesnager when he had supported the arguments for the peace against the Whigs had resulted in one of his pamphlets being translated into French and himself given a reward of which he duly informed the government. Moore 377.

SUPPORTING KOSTER AS THE FIRST PRINTER

102. KONING, Jacobus. Verhandeling over den oorsprong, de uitvinding, verbetering en volmaking der boekdrukkunst. Haarlem: A Loosjes, 1816.

1st edition. 8vo. viii, 475, xvi pp. 8 plates (6 folding).

with

KONING, Jacobus. Bijdragen tot de Geschiedenis der Boekdrukkunst. Haarlem: 1818-20. $400.00

1st edition. 2 vols., supplementary to Verhandeling over den oorsprong . . . 8vo. 212 pp. 3 plates, 1 folding.

Stiff wrappers, chipped around edges and discolored. A very good, clean set.

The present work was the prize essay of the Dutch Society of Sciences of Haarlem on the history of printing. It supports the theory that Laurent Janssoen Koster, who lived in Haarlem from 1436 to 1483, was the first to print from moveable type, preceding Gutenberg. Koning carefully analyzes the language, orthography, and watermarks in Speculum Humanae Salvationis, allegedly done by Koster, and makes conjectures about the press used to print it to establish that Koster was indeed the first printer. (Bigmore and Wyman, I, 395-7).

103. LAGRANGE, J[oseph] L[ouis]. Theorie des fonctions analytiques, contenant les principes du calcul différentiel, dégagés de toute considération d'infiniment petits ou d'évanouissans, de limites ou de fluxions, et réduite à l'analyse algébrique des quantités finies . . . Paris: De L'imprimerie de la république, Prairial an V. [1797], $250.00

1st edition. Small 4to. viii, 276 pp.

Original boards with leather spine label. Binding extremities rubbed. Occasional ink notations by a former owner in the margins. Some light foxing. Overall very good.

The object of Lagrange's (1736-1813) work was "... the elimination of the, to some minds, unsatisfactory conception of the infinite from the metaphysics of the higher mathematics, and the substitution for the differential and integral calculus of an analogous method depending wholly on the serial development of algebraical functions. By means of this 'calculus of derived functions' Lagrange hoped to give to the solution of all analytical problems the utmost 'rigour of the demonstrations of the ancients'; but it cannot be said that the attempt was successful . . . Nowhere, however, were the keenness and clearness of his intellect more conspicuous than in this brilliant effort . . ." (Encyc. Brit.) Graesse IV, 78 lists the first edition as having appeared in 1798.

Pascal's (1623-62) Lettres Provinciales was first issued clandestinely in eighteen parts as a series of separate publications by a variety of printers between January 23, 1656 and January 15, 1657. Distinguished as Pascal was as a mathematician and scientist, he will always be chiefly remembered as a moralist, more especially as the great apologist for Jansenism, the seventeenth century French ascetic movement of reform inside the Catholic Church.

At the end of 1655, the movement had been much under attack from the Jesuits, and Pascal was persuaded to write a rejoinder, which he did in a few days. The basis of the Jesuits' attack had been that the tenets of Jansenism came dangerously near to the Calvinist doctrine of predestination. "Pascal's counterattack took the form of a brilliant exposure of the casuistical methods of argument employed by the Jesuits. It was at the same time a magnificent sustained invective, after which the Jesuits never recovered their former position in France . . . and a noble defence of thought in religious faith." (Printing and the Mind of Man, #140). Lowndes, p. 1795.

1st edition. 8vo. 90 pp.

Parchment backed boards with gilt lettered spine. Spine discolored. A very good, clean copy.

Contains "Homage to Sextus Propertius," "Langue d'Oc ('Alba,' I-IV)—Moeurs contemporaines," "Hugh Selwyn Mauberley," and Cantos Four through Seven. Gallup A21a.

141. RAINSFORD, Marcus. An Historical Account of the Black Empire of Hayti: Comprehending a view of the principal transactions in the revolution of Saint Domingo; with its antient and modern state. [London]: Published by James Cundee . . . 1805. $250.00

1st edition. 4to. [xxiv], [468], [12] pp. 1 folding map, and 1 folding plan, both mounted on cloth. 10 other plates. Indexed. 3 pp. publisher's advertisements. With half-title.

Contemporary calf, rebaked. New endpapers. Text lightly soiled throughout. Several short marginal tears and repairs. A good, sound copy.

Rainsford was involved in raising black troops for the English army in the West Indies. In 1799 he was arrested and condemned to death in Saint Domingo as a spy, but was reprieved and eventually set at liberty. He published an account of this incident in A Memoir of Transactions That Took Place in St. Domingo in the Spring of 1799 (London: 1802), in addition to the present historical account of the area. (D.N.B.). Lowndes, p. 2038.

142. [RICHARDS, Robert]. The Californian Crusoe; or, The Lost Treasure Found. A Tale of Mormonism. London: John Henry Parker, 1854, New

York: Stanford and Swords, 1854. $200.00

Small 8vo. iv, 162 pp. Frontispiece.

Original purple blindstamped cloth with gilt lettered spine. Spine faded. Front cover lightly soiled. Ink inscription of front fly-leaf. A very good, tight copy. Scarce.

Though the Wagner-Camp note treats this book as a narrative of an actual journey, Dale Morgan's opinion, as quoted in Wagner-Camp, that "Robert Richards is a pseudonym, and [this book] should be labeled as what it is, a primitive precursor of 'the Mormon novel!'" seems more correct. (Street-er 3061). Cowan, p. 531; Graff 3488; Sabin 9985; Wagner-Camp 243 (says first issue has London imprint only).

143. ROBINSON, Stanford F.H. Celtic Illuminative Art in the gospel books of Durrow, Lindisfarne, and Kells. Dublin: Hodges, Figgis, & Co., Limited, Publishers to the University, 1908. $125.00

4to. xxiii, 190 pp. Bibliography and index. Includes 503 descriptions and 48 full-page illustrations.

½ vellum over blue-green buckram. Spine lettered in gilt. t.e.g. Minor dustsoiling. Very good. Scarce.

147. [RUGGLE, George]. Ignoramus. Comoedia coram Regia Maiestate Iacobi Regis Angliae, &c. Londini: Impensis I.S., 1630. $250.00

1st edition. 12mo. [2], 187 pp. Frontispiece. Woodcut vignette on title page.

Contemporary calf. Some leaves closely cropped at fore-edge. Otherwise a very good, clean copy.

George Ruggle (1575-1622) is best known for the present title. In 1611-12 academic circles at Cambridge were excited by a dispute as to precedence between the mayor of the town and the vice-chancellor of the university. The quarrel was settled in 1612 by the privy council in favor of the vice-chancellor; but Ruggle and his academic friends resented the petti-fogging shifts to which the counsel for the mayor, Francis Brakin, the recorder of the town, was driven during the protracted arguments. Ruggle ridiculed him in this Latin comedy. An Italian comedy entitled Trappolaria by Giambattista Porta (1596) and itself based on the Pseudolus of Plautus, suggested the form of Ignoramus. Ruggle sets the scene at Bordeaux rather than in Naples, as in Trappolaria; he changed the names of Porta's characters and added seven new ones; of the 55 scenes of Ignoramus, while 21 are borrowed from the Italian and 16 are partial imitations, 18 are original. The hero, the lawyer, Ignoramus, satirizes Brakin. (D.N.B.) STC 21445.

to some plates, offsetting from frontis., occasional light foxing to text. Small piece at lower corner of p. v (v.I) torn out; no loss of text. Bookplates. Overall, a very good set, complete with half-titles and all plates.

This edition, published by Robinson in 1799, is the only unabridged English edition of this work and is usually considered the best of the English editions. Extremely rare.

"The first foreign visitor to arrive in California, after its founding in 1769, was the French explorer, La Perouse. Landing at Monterey, he remained ten days, in the month of September 1780. Considering the length of his stay, he left the best account of the natural resources of the country until another Frenchman, Duhaut-Cilly (q.v.), arrived in 1827. In comparing the Indians and their treatment by the missionaries to the slave system in the West Indies, he stirred up a debate that lasted until long after the American occupation. The atlas . . . contains . . . a good survey of Monterey, the earliest printed sketch of San Francisco Bay, and the first picture of the crested quail to be shown in Europe." Zamorano 80, p. 38.
